Monster Hunter: Flash Hunter, Vol. 2

Synopsis

It is an age when monsters rule the world, soaring through the sky, treading the earth and filling the seas. Humanity survives on the fringes, relying on a special kind of hero to defend the people from danger—the Monster Hunters! The three Hunters—Raiga, Keres and Torche—need to work together to take down the Qurupeco. If they can overcome their differences they'll have a chance, but as they put their plan into action, a massive shape blocks out the sun. A Rathian, a fearsome beast called the "Queen of the Land," descends upon them |

Volume 2 of Monster Hunter Flash Hunter picks right off where volume 1 ended in a life or death hunt. Raiga, Keres and Torche really start to learn what it means to work as a team, which is one of the main theme of the volume. The other is the mysterious outbreak of hostile monsters in usually peaceful areas. We also get a nice backstory to Raiga which explains why he wants to be a monster hunter. Which warmed me up to him a bit, even though it was a bit generic for a shonen protagonist background. Overall it's a fun shonen series and I'm looking forward to see what awaits our motley crew in the next volume.

Yeh, loving this manga even though I don't play the game. This volume is full of battle action, starting off continuing the battle from Vol. 1. Raiga and Keres learn how to fight as a team through all this battling so their characters are developed and they've become friends, with the animosity still there. The plot progresses by having a year pass in time and the duo get sent on another mission where a village is being unusually hindered by monsters. They meet up with another team and the village has its own monster hunter, so the cast is increased dramatically.
